

The Competition Council approved the takeover of some assets of Gimrom by Mega Image

The Competition Council authorized the economic concentration by which Mega Image takes over the control over three stores owned by Gimrom Holding SA which manages Gima stores.

The competition authority has assessed the economic concentration in terms of its compatibility with a normal competitive environment and found that this operation does not raise significant obstacles to effective competition, especially further to the creation or strengthening a dominant position on identified relevant markets.

Both Mega Image and Gima activate on food and non-food retail market through supermarket stores.

The Competition Council's decision on this operation will be published on the website of the authority www.consiliulconcurentei.ro after the parties' agreement on confidential data.
